WILL HOUSE 600 CONVICTS

Dormitory at London Prison Farm Completed.

BUILT WITH PRISON LABOR

Solution of Congestion Problem Still Confronting the Ohio Penitentiary, Where Enrollment Has Reached the Highest Crest in Its History. New Dormitory Not Likely to Relieve the Situation.

Columbus, Oct. 21.—State Welfare Director Harper announced that although the men's dormitory at the London prison farm is now a reality, the growth in the penitentiary population has been so rapid that it has contributed little to the solution of the congestion problem confronting that institution.

The penitentiary population reached the highest crest in history Monday, when 2,901 were enrolled there, 400 more than the same date a year ago. With the prison farm dormitory, which will accommodate 600 men, and provision for 100 more at the brick plant, the penitentiary is still left with a population of 2,200, the maximum it can accommodate without crowding. As a further complication of the congestion problem, it was pointed out by Mr. Harper that nearly 1,000 men are serving terms of at least 10 years, while 500 are incarcerated for life.

There are now at the new dormitory 520 men, 170 on the honor role and 350 in the stockade. With 60 more prisoners the building's capacity will have been reached.

The dormitory was constructed by prisoners. In the work of supervision, a guard, E. W. McKinley, played an important role, assuming much of the real burden of the task. W. F. Amrine, superintendent of the farm, also contributed largely to the success of the project. The building was planned originally five years ago for the administration building for the prison farm, but later was converted into a dormitory. The structure is composed entirely of brick, steel and concrete and is fireproof. It was started in 1919, when a small amount of work was done. For four years the building remained in an incomplete state. The work of finishing the structure was resumed in June, 1923.

Material to the value of about $100,000, on the ground in June, 1923, and intended for use in the building, was salvaged for the state and used, together with new material purchased since that time at a cost of about $125,000. It is estimated that a saving of $100,000 was made in material that would have gone to waste and that by utilizing prison labor exclusively an additional $100,000 was saved to the state in labor costs.

FILE SUIT IN HIGH COURT

Ohio Independents Demand Challenge to the Polls.

Columbus, Oct. 21.—A suit was filed in state supreme court by Marie Wing and Edgar S. Byers of Cleveland to compel the Cuyahoga county board of elections to grant La Follette supporters the privilege of installing challengers and inspectors in the polling places in Ohio Nov. 4. Mrs. Wing is chairman of the Cuyahoga county La Follette organization, and Byers is campaign manager.

The Cuyahoga county board has refused a request by the county committee, on the ground that the group does not constitute a political party. The complainants argue that the La Follette-Wheeler organization is a political party and cite the 58,000 signatures obtained on petitions circulated in Cleveland as evidence of the party's strength.

The case was argued before the court today and an early decision is expected. The ruling of the court will govern the procedure in all counties of the state where the Independent-Progressive party is represented.

War Veteran Heads For Davis.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The Democratic national committee issued a statement saying that 15 national leaders of war veterans came out for John W. Davis. President Coolidge and the Republican administration were severely criticized by the former service men, headed by Alvin Owsley, former commander of the American Legion, for their attitude toward the men who fought in the war. The statement cited the scandal and graft in the veterans' bureau, and declared that its signers could name dozens of instances in which hospital were located for political reasons.

BUTLER SEEKS PROBE

Alleges Slush Fund Being Raised For Independent Ticket.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Counter charges of a "slush fund" for the La Follette-Wheeler ticket were made in a statement issued from Republican campaign headquarters here over the name of William M. Butler, national chairman. Butler has asked Senator Charles McNary of the senate campaign fund committee, to summon witnesses from Wisconsin to tell of the proposal to raise $500,000 in that state alone for the independent ticket. The same ratio was followed in other states, the La Follette-Wheeler fund would be higher than the Republican campaign fund, Butler stated.

EXPLOSION OCCURS ON SCOUT CRUISER

Officer and Three Men Killed and 18 Others Injured.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The navy department announced that an explosion on the scout cruiser Trenton killed four men, including an officer, and injured 18 others.

The explosion occurred in the forward twin gun mount during target practice on the drill grounds off Cape Henry, Virginia. It was caused by a flareback after one of the six-inch guns had been fired.

The cruiser is in command of Captain E. C. Kalbus, and is one of the first of the scout cruisers recently placed in commission. It is a 7,500-ton vessel and carries 10 six-inch guns, besides anti-air craft and torpedo equipment. She is designed to carry a crew of about 400. The Trenton had gone to the drill grounds from Washington navy yard after bringing home the body of Major Robert W. Imbrie, American vice consul at Teheran, Persia, who was killed by a mob.

Living Cost Increasing.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The cost of living in the United States increased nine-tenths of 1 per cent from June to September of this year, although for the period beginning September, 1923, the general level decreased by the same amount. These changes, set forth in a statement by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor, disclosed a net general increase of 70.5 per cent from December, 1917, to September, 1924.

Ford Not to Renew Bid.

Detroit, Oct. 21.—"We are absolutely through," Henry Ford said here in discussing the withdrawal of a $5,000,000 offer for Muscle Shoals. He asserted he had practically put the thing out of his mind. Ford made plain that he was not bitter about the matter and asserted he would cooperate with the government or any one else in developing the project.

STATE TO LOSE MILLION A YEAR

Ohio Franchise Tax Act Held Unconstitutional.

RULING OF SUPREME COURT

State Has Been Collecting Taxes on Foreign Corporations Under the Law and Approximately $1,000,000 Was to Fall Due on Dec. 1.—Effect of Decision on Taxes Already Collected by the State.

Columbus, Oct. 21.—Ohio will lose $1,000,000 a year in foreign corporation taxes as a result of the United States supreme court declaring the Ohio franchise tax law unconstitutional.

The state has been collecting taxes on foreign corporations under this law and approximately $1,000,000 was to fall due on Dec. 1, it was stated at the state treasurer's office.

The decision was handed down in the case of the Airway Electric Appliance corporation, vs. Harry S. Day treasurer. The text of the opinion follows:

"The inevitable effect of the act is to tax and directly burden interstate commerce of region corporations, wherever the number of shares authorized, subject to the charge of five cents each, exceeds the number of outstanding shares attributable to or represented by the corporation's property and business in that state."

"In this case the fee fixed by the commission was based on nearly eight times the number of outstanding shares and that determined by the court on nearly six times that number. As some of the outstanding shares are represented by the plaintiff's interstate business, the application of the rate total to the share or to a number greater than the total outstanding, necessarily amounts to a tax and direct burden upon all the property and business including the interstate commerce of the plaintiff. We have held that the act violates the commerce clause."

State Treasurer Harry S. Day was out of the city and attaches of his office could not say what effect the court's action would have on taxes that already have been collected.

The tax for the year ending June 30, 1923, amounted to $1,003,356. For 1924 the state treasurer's office sent statements out last week to collect a total of $909,367 due Dec. 1. The tax is three-twentieths of 1 per cent assessed upon the proportion of the foreign corporation's authorized capital stock represented by the property owned and used and the business transacted in Ohio.

HAYNES REPORTS

Prohibition Becoming More Successful, the Commissioner Claims.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes announced that jail sentences imposed on violators of the prohibition act during the past three years aggregate 7,000 years. Haynes said 177,000 arrests had been made, 39,000,000 gallons of liquor seized and 11,000 automobiles and 444 ships confiscated. Fines totaling $18,000,000 have been imposed, of which $17,000,000 have been collected.

The commissioner asserted that prohibition was becoming more successful, citing co-operation between federal and state officials as one of the reasons. He also declared that 90 per cent of the liquor now being sold is "poisonous," pointing out that the realization of this fact by potential purchasers had cut down the sale by bootleggers. Longer jail sentences and heavier fines for violators of the Volstead act also serve to reduce the number of violations, Haynes said.

Firebug Suspected.

Alliance, O., Oct. 21.—Fire, thought to have been of incendiary origin, completely destroyed the home and store of Nick Marku at East Alliance. Marku, arrested numerous times on charges of selling and possessing liquor, was acquitted early this year at Youngstown of the murder of his cousin, John S. Marcu, during a liquor raid, Dec. 3, 1923.

Jurors Selected Without Challenge.

Cleveland, Oct. 21.—Jurors in the first degree murder trial of Benjamin Beebe, 20, were chosen without a single peremptory challenge being exercised by the state or the defense. The jury consists of 8 men and 5 women, the thirteenth or "alternate" juror being a man. Beebe is charged with slaying John Johnson, aged 40, on Oct. 10.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Suspects in Holdup Arrested.

Columbus, Oct. 21.—Emma Young, 13, with two male companions, was arrested here for alleged participation in the holdup of a gas filling station at Dayton and the shooting of the attendant last Friday midnight. The girl told deputy sheriffs that she was forced to flee with the men in the car at the point of a gun. George Lemhoff, 22, and James Lemhoff, 30, were the other two alleged occupants of the bandit car. They are under arrest. Five more suspects were arrested in Cincinnati.

Woman Shoots Husband.

Steubenville, O., Oct. 21.—Charged with shooting her husband, John Harris, 27, at their home in Fort Homer, Mrs. Frances Harris, 25, told Sheriff Edward Lucas that she shot in defense of her two babies. Mrs. Harris charged that her husband threatened the children with a butcher knife. Mrs. Harris said she seized a shotgun and as her husband approached the children fired one shot into his back. He is in serious condition.

Mayor Shot During Raid.

Warren, O., Oct. 21.—Mayor Frank Starr of Newton Falls was shot and seriously wounded by Nick Blaboff when the mayor and Marshall Dickson started to search Blaboff's house for liquor, according to the mayor. As the two approached, Blaboff came outside, fired twice and escaped.

Drank Denatured Alcohol.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Nellie Williams, 50, died from alcoholic poisoning. She and a male companion, Charles Galey, were found unconscious by police in the rear of the woman's home. Both had been drinking denatured alcohol. Galey is reported in a serious condition.

Receives Death Threats.

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—William Weaver, father of Mary Weaver, 14, who disappeared from her home on Sept. 12, reported to police that he had received a number of threatening telephone calls to the effect that he would be killed unless he abandoned the search for his daughter.

Man Killed; Son Injured.

Wooster, O., Oct. 21.—Thomas Long, 50, proprietor of the Hotel St. Clair at Creston, was instantly killed when a passenger train struck an automobile driven by him. His son, John, aged 20, was seriously injured.

Workman Electrocuted.

Canton, O., Oct. 21.—William Ferry was electrocuted here when he came in contact with a live wire while assisting in wrecking a building of the Canton Forge and Axle company.

Killed by Train.

Akron, O., Oct. 21.—William D. Judson was killed when a train struck the automobile which he was driving at the Bettes Corners grade crossing near Akron.

Tumulty Denies Charge.

New York, Oct. 21.—The charge said to have been made by Governor Walker of Georgia at a Ku Klux Klan meeting in Kansas City recently that Joseph Tumulty, secretary to the late President Wilson, had used his influence as a Catholic to place in every national war camp a Catholic church and drive out the churches of every Protestant denomination, was pronounced an "unqualified falsehood" by Mr. Tumulty, who has sent a telegram to the Atlanta Constitution demanding that the governor offer proof for his statement.

CABINET UNABLE TO MEET CRISIS

German Reichstag Dissolved by President Ebert.

GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD

Attitude of Nationalists Who Refused to Join Coalition Government Unless Given Four Posts Precipitates the Crisis—Chancellor Failed to Reconcile Conflicting Views of the Warring Factions.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—A proclamation dissolving the German parliament was issued by President Ebert. Chancellor Marx and his cabinet, unable to meet the present governmental crisis, asked the president to dissolve the Reichstag and Ebert acted immediately.

The cabinet crisis came to a head after it had seemed likely that the difficulties might be solved. The attitude of the Nationalists, who refused to join the coalition unless they were given four posts, was the final straw. The chancellor, anxious to avoid a general election if possible, in order to proceed with fulfillment of the terms of the experts' plan, tried in every way to reconcile the conflicting views of the warring political parties and keep enough of them together to maintain a coalition government, but his efforts proved futile.

The Dawes report again will be the outstanding issue in the forthcoming elections, in that the Democratic and Clericals will demand the continuation of Germany's foreign policies along the lines enunciated by the report, which were wholly dictated and shaped by the issues revolving around Germany's acceptance and fulfillment of the Dawes plan. In this both bourgeois parties have had the active support of the Socialists.

SHAKEN BY QUAKES

Towns in South and North Carolina Report Earth Tremors.

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct. 21.—This district was severely shaken by an earthquake, which rattled window panes and shook pictures from the walls. The tremors were felt in towns and cities in Spartanburg and Greenville counties. The center of the quake was noted between Greenville and Pickens, where the disturbances were most violent and strange rumblings were heard. Residents at Pickens thought a terrific explosion had occurred and ran from their houses terrified. Towns which reported disturbances included Anderson, Greer, Easley, Liberty and Union. The quake was general within a radius of 100 miles of Spartanburg. Sections of North Carolina and Georgia also felt earthquake shocks.

At Hendersonville, N. C., houses were shaken, and at Asheville, N. C., the tremors lasted a minute, consisting of a series of sharp movements.

Girl's Body Found.

Milwaukee, Oct. 21.—The body of Julia Twardowski, 21, of Milwaukee, who has been missing from her home since Sept. 21, was found in a field near the Racine-Milwaukee county line by a band of hunters. Sheriff George Wherry of Racine county expressed the belief that the girl was murdered.

HERE AND THERE

A box of powder placed by an enemy under the hood of his automobile resulted in serious injury to Albert Donavasky, a coal miner of Newfield, Pa. Donavasky was hurled through the roof of his garage when he attempted to crank his automobile. Appeal of the director general of railroads, acting for the Michigan Central railroad, from the award by lower courts of $100,000 damages to Hetty McCree, employee of the Hagenback circus, who was injured in a train wreck, was dismissed by federal supreme court.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge underwent a minor second operation at Boston, which was "entirely successful."

An express train on the Pennsylvania railroad was derailed near Longfellow, Pa. Three passengers were injured. At Middleburg, Pa., Mrs. Annie S. Willow was found guilty of second degree murder on a charge of complicity in the killing of her husband, Harvey Willow.

Miss Montie Le May of St. Paul, Minn., was killed at Houston, Tex., when her parachute failed to open when she jumped from a balloon.

STRIKERS WIN

Entitled to Trial by Jury in Contempt Cases, Says High Court.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The section of the Clayton act, which prescribes trial by jury for strikers charged with contempt of court, was declared constitutional by the United States supreme court.

The court held that railway strikers, under the Clayton act, are entitled to trial by jury when brought into court on charges of violation of an injunction.

Sam Michaelson, Dan Cullen and eight other striking employees of the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha Railroad company were convicted of contempt of court in the federal district court for Western district of Wisconsin during the 1922 shopmen's strike. Trial by jury was denied them and they appealed to the supreme court.

The lower court held that the provision of the Clayton act, which prescribes trial by jury for strikers who violate the terms of an injunction restraining them, was unconstitutional and that since the defendants were on strike at the time they were arrested they could not be considered "employees" within the meaning of the act even if it were constitutional. The supreme court reversed this view.

Want Sunday Movies.

Ashtabula, O., Oct. 21.—City council was handed a petition signed by some 3,000 residents of Ashtabula requesting the re-opening of the movies here. The city's second Sunday of "blue law" enforcement saw a more stringent enforcement than the first Sunday. The local ministerial association succeeded in having all business places closed recently on Sunday.

DEPORTATION LOOMS

Federal Government to Intervene in Chinese Tong War.

New York, Oct. 21.—Inspector Alfred W. Brough of the Chinese bureau of the immigration service, declared here that the next step in the tong war must be federal intervention and deportation of those responsible for continuation of the feud. Word of the murder of a Chinese in Detroit, the latest victim of rivalry between the On Leong and Hip Sing, brought fresh activity by police and detectives here to prevent an outbreak of vengeance. Leaders of the On Leong refused to meet those of the Hip Sing in a peace parley. As a result Inspector Brough announced he will exert all his influence to bring deportation into play to end the strife. Any Chinese found carrying weapons illegally will be made liable to deportation as a "dangerous radical," he said, and it may be possible even to resort to wholesale deportations of tong leaders.

Davis Cancels Speech.

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—Engagement of John W. Davis to speak in Cincinnati has been canceled. Democratic headquarters announced here. "The Republican machine practically has the local field sewed up," was the explanation authorized.

Wraps and Things for Women's Wear

Late Paris Displays Show Very Few Real Tailor-Made Dresses.

The time has come, so Paris says, to talk of winter things—of sleeves and skirts and wraps and tunics planned by fashion kings. Latest word from that city gives the information that the smartest displays show very few real tailor-made dresses, and these few have very simple straight short jackets with belts not much lower than normal waistline.

Many belted jumpers are shown in plain kasha, velvet, jersey crepe, fulgurante and satin, and are quite long and straight.

The sweaters are fastened with a few buttons either at the top, middle front or side, like Russian blouses. Also a few buttons are placed vertically at the sides to tighten the bottom. These jumpers are worn with very short skirts, plaited, straight, portefeuille or shaped three-piece, with long redingotes, either straight or shaped, with many seams, reminding one of a princess robe, not quite so narrow at the waist, but wider at the bottom. These are made in velvet, fulgurante, cloche or imitation fur.

Crepe or fulgurante linings nearly always match the dresses or tunics worn underneath, the colors being black with white or lame tunics, brown with all beiges and Bois de Rose, bottle green with pistache, beige or gray, garnet red with lighter shades of cherry, raspberry or beige. Some tunics are in lame.

The general silhouette in dresses is slightly widened at the bottom. Dresses have plaited sides, plaited and shaped aprons, panels, shaped flounces—sometimes several wide or narrow ones over each other, irregularly disposed; many insertions of plaited or plain material forming designs, often arranged in rounded movement, front and back forming two points at sides. These designs are often repeated at different heights following the same movements. There are many rounded yokes shown, often only the front or only the back plain. Sleeves are long and tight, mounted at the normal place. Dresses are often either beltless or princess line.

The very cleverly cut evening dresses are nearly all in dyed lace or chiffon over lame or matching satin or crepe fourreaux. The principal colors are black, ruby, cherry, raspberry, purple, gold and silver. The dresses are wider at the bottom, many with wings at back or shaped flounces at front.

Very important novelty fur and velvet evening capes and coats have double front. For example, brown velvet coat lined with pink velvet, which also forms an inside coat—the back of the second coat lined with fur. A very nice effect is a woman wrapped in second coat leaving first falling at the sides.

Renewing Window Shades

The process of repainting a window shade is very simple. Brush, or wipe away, with a dry cloth, all the dust. Place the shade flat on a table or the floor. Mix three parts of flat wall paint with one part of mineral turpentine and, using a broad-bristle brush, apply to the shade, thinly. Use down strokes and work quickly. Two coats are sufficient. A white shade that is soiled can be made into a new and fresh looking one if it is painted in gray, light blue, green or buff.

50,000 IN LIFE-SAVING SERVICE OF RED CROSS

Additional 50,000 Water Safety Experts Probable Gain of Summer Campaign.

A boy watched an expert give a class a lesson in the way to revive a person unconscious from water immersion. The next day the boy tried it on a bathing companion and saved his life. Such a boy justifies all the effort and the cost of the Life-Saving Service, American Red Cross officials declare. The Red Cross method of restoring partly drowned persons is so simple that the continual large sacrifice of life must decrease as an informed public insists upon general instruction in prone pressure practice to induce respiration.

The Red Cross Life-Saving Service in every part of the country, summer and winter, is engaged in teaching this method as an integral part of swimming and life-saving. This service has grown from a single expert in 1914 to a corps of almost 50,000 active life-savers. In its tenth year of the work it is predicted that fully 50,000 more experts will be eligible for membership in the corps. This large accession in a single year is confidently expected as the result of the campaign among 22,000 troops of Boy Scouts under a plan to qualify at least two life-guards in each troop. During the past year 4,746 men, 3,374 women, 9,731 boys and girls successfully passed the rigid tests of the Red Cross—an increase of 5,331 over 1923. Intensive instruction is developing hundreds of qualified examiners for the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, who supplement the teaching staff maintained by the national organization. The cause of water safety is therefore penetrating to new sections and eventually will cover all American territory.

Recognition of this Red Cross service for humanity is growing apace. At the request of the War Department every military training camp had life-saving instruction last summer. Municipalities have adopted the Red Cross course, public and private schools are offering it to students, business, civic and athletic organizations are promoting campaigns, and police departments are making it a part of the conditioning process for their recruits.

Volunteer life-savers throughout the country, the American Red Cross reports, are eagerly advancing the cause of water safety, 338 volunteers receiving medals for giving from 200 to 300 hours' service in two or three years. In addition 36 rescue bars to medals were awarded members of the Red Cross Corps who saved one or more lives during the year.

It is for the work and extension of life-saving that continued support through memberships is sought, and the American Red Cross urges all persons to join or renew membership during the enrollment campaign opening Armistice Day, November 11.

Red Cross Invites All Into Neutral Army of Service

There are 3,089 counties in the United States and more than 3,500 Chapters of the American Red Cross. The Chapter is the local unit of the national organization, formed to carry out the program, services and policies of the Red Cross. The industry of these 3,500 local units is a voluntary and steady outpouring of well-doing and sympathy which softens human suffering and distress wherever it arises. This work is absolutely neutral, for the Red Cross knows no race, no creed, no color.

The strength of the American Red Cross being in its Chapters, the organization annually invites the people to join or renew their membership during a Roll Call which always begins on Armistice Day, November 11.

"It is this annual enlistment of millions of Americans under the banner of the American Red Cross which makes possible the continued work of this great and democratic legion of mercy," says Judge John Barton Payne, head of the national organization. "Membership in the Red Cross is a privilege within the reach of everyone. The need for service grows more insistent each year. To keep pace with the demands which come from every section of our country, we must have the people's loyal support. Our capacity for service in the year to come will be limited only by the extent to which we receive support for our work in the coming Roll Call."

The invitation of the American Red Cross is unlimited. The enrollment period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, is everyone's opportunity to join.

Annual Summons to Service
The annual nation-wide Roll Call of the American Red Cross to enroll members for 1925 will open on Nov. 11, the anniversary of that tense and never-to-be-forgotten Armistice Day six years ago, which silenced the crashing arms of the World War. The enrollment will continue for 17 days, through Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27. Preliminary to the Roll Call period will come Red Cross Sunday, Nov. 9. During the 17 days set aside for the enrollment more than 3,500 Chapters of the Red Cross and their thousands of branches will invite the people to join the Red Cross or renew their membership.

Record Hailstones
The maximum possible size of hailstones cannot be positively stated, but stones larger than a man's fist and weighing more than a pound have several times been reported. During a hailstorm in Natal, on April 17, 1874, stones fell that weighed one and one-half pounds. Hailstones 14 inches in circumference fell in New South Wales in February, 1847.

Japanese Use of Seaweed
Coarse forms of seaweed are utilized by the Japanese for the manufacture of a variety of objects, such as clogs, picture frames, and electric switchboards, while a substitute for cotton is made by blending the two kinds of seaweed called in Japanese "segumo" and "gomoguma."

Self-Help
Self-help is a great virtue, provided one only helps oneself to a fair share. The ideal of independence is to acquire as little service as possible from others, while being ready to give to others as much service as lies within one's capacity.

To Build Giant Zeppelin.

Akron, O., Oct. 21.—Paul W. Litchfield, vice president and general manager of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation, announced that plans have been perfected to construct a Zeppelin airship of 5,000,000 cubic feet, twice as large as the ZR-3. It will be designed especially for transatlantic service. Several other airships already are under construction by the Goodyear-Tire and Rubber company, of which the Goodyear-Zeppelin is a subsidiary. Among them is the RS-1, the first semirigid dirigible ever built in this country and one of the largest ever made.

Propose to Register Nonvoters.

Washington, Oct. 21.—A well-defined movement, backed, seemingly by members of all parties, has developed looking toward the listing of all voters who fail to vote at national elections. It is thought that the preparation of lists of nonvoters, and the publication of these in local communities, would create a greater interest in the value of the suffrage privilege to every citizen, and make for a better and more intelligent citizenship.

Water Hyacinth Has Value.

The water hyacinth, which so rapidly fills up certain streams, is found to have a high value as a fertilizer. On account of the large amount of water the green plant contains the material is partially dried before slackening and after becoming well rotted it proves to have about the same composition as farmyard manure, except that it is richer in potash.

Snow Leopard Rare Animal.

The snow leopard, the greatest prize of big game hunters in India, is rarely found below a height of 11,000 feet and is even there extremely rare. It is both wild and savage and the natives have a superstitious fear of its white coat and deep-green eyes.

AMUSEMENTS

"Code of the Sea" a Victor Fleming production for Paramount, featuring Rod LaRocque and Jacqueline Logaan, was shown for the first time at the Met theater yesterday.

The story is an original for the screen by Byron Morgan, author of many of Wally Reid's automobile successes. Bertram Millhauser made the adaptation.

In the picture, La Rocque has the role of Bruce McDow, first mate on the light ship Barrier Reef. One night a great storm comes up, and the yacht Neroid, on which is Jenny Hayden (Miss Logan, McDow's sweetheart), goes on the rocks and is breaking up fast. At the same time the passenger steamer Northern Captain Hayden, played by George Fawcett is trying to make port with three hundred passengers. A wireless message from the steamer orders McDow to remain at his station so the Northern can clear the reef in safety.

The lightship springs one of her forward chains, but McDow orders his men to ride it out until they break loose. He puts out to the Neroid in a small boat, picking up a lifeline, which has been shot out from a shore station and fallen short. He just about makes the Neroid in time—sees all on board taken safely ashore in the breeches buoy—for the frail craft disappears beneath the waves with the captain and himself aboard. Is that the end of him? The picture will be on view at the Met until tonight.

Maurice Flynn, Luke Cosgrave, Lillian Leighton and Sam Appell have important supporting roles in this picture, one of the fastest moving sea stories, not to mention one of the most genuinely entertaining productions, which has come to the screen at the Met in many months.

The Thrift of Years.

Every man should strive to live at least 100 years and die all hitched up in working harness. Many a man feels that he would like to retire at about sixty and spend the rest of his years with nothing to do but lead a gold-headed cane around by the hand. It is thrifty to stay on the job just as long as possible. Every man should make the century plan his favorite lower and the undertaker his worst enemy.—Thrift Magazine.

FELL FROM TREE

M Luther Graham, of Derby, Died Monday From His Injuries.

M. Luther Graham died Monday noon at Grant hospital, Columbus, following an operation for blood clot on the brain, resulting from a fall while gathering hickory nuts on his father's farm in Darby township, Sunday morning. He was able to walk to the machine and they went home, but on Sunday evening he became unconscious and he was rushed to Grant hospital for an operation.

He was the son of Fletcher and Etta Brown Graham and was born in Darby township, May 23, 1906. Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters and one brother; Rosella Hall, of Columbus; T. L. Graham, of California, and Doris, at home.

The remains were removed to the home of his grief-stricken parents by C. E. Hill Monday afternoon and from which the funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Harble and Rev. Mr. Miller will officiate and interment will take place at Darbyville. The pallbearers will be members of the Darby township schools.

Streets "Lit by Smoke."

It was on January 28, 1807, that Pall Mall was lit by gas—the first street in any city in the world to adopt the new illuminant. The cartoonists of the period drew pictures which represented people choked by the fumes of the new illuminant, and all manner of ridiculous stories were circulated about it. Sir Walter Scott wrote from London that "there was a madman proposing to light London with—what do you think?—why, with smoke." Sir Humphry Davy is also credited with giving the opinion that it would be as easy to bring down a bit of the moon to light London as to succeed in doing so with gas.—London Tit-Bits.

GLASS BLOWER

Will Exhibit His Wares and Handiwork at Pumpkin Show.

Henry Meyers, an experienced fancy glass blower of 26 years and one of the three fancy colored glass blowers in the country is exhibiting his wares and handicraft at the Circleville Pumpkin Show this year. His stand is located on West Main street.

His is the old art of Bohemian glass work, sometimes called the last out and it is very interesting and educational to see him work.

He blows beautiful birds, vases and flowers right before the spectators and gives a free souvenir to each onlooker. He has exhibited before many high schools, Kiwanis clubs and colleges about the country.

Builder of Pagoda.

Yes, Guess.

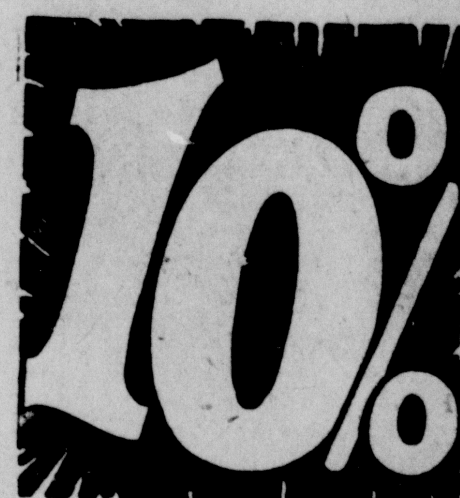

When a young husband sits him down in his easy chair, and his child-wife slips quietly along, sits down in his lap and relates with tears trickling down her voice that she hasn't had a new hat in three months—guess, gentle reader—which is the easier (or the uneasier), the chair or the husband.

Mothers and daughters will want to see the Clothing and Food club exhibits at the court house during the Pumpkin Show. 20octd5.

Color of Gold.

When you look at a bit of pure gold you are quite well satisfied that it is of a light yellow color. It only appears so. The white light reflected from its surface has the effect of adulterating the color rays from the metal and it appears much lighter than it really is. If this white light is eliminated the color is a brilliant orange. Beaten to its greatest possibility of thinness, it becomes transparent to light and held up and looked through, it becomes a lively sage green. Reduced to a fine powder it becomes ruby red and when vaporized it becomes purple.

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Spends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burdens of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case Is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters urges the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11. Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30 last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 3,500 Chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

58,767 Soldier Cases a Month

The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service," for it gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoria, averaged 33,951 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 58,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 32,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the tedium of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases

The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,609 Chapters, an increase of 182 communities where problems affected by the war veteran's condition required solution through immediate and intelligent assistance. The Chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the past year $173,076.36 was expended in helping the Chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government report there are 4,800 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, of veterans of foreign wars, and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor denied.

Definite Service to 73,700

Of a total of $4,500 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross. In a single month 4,185 new cases were presented and a total of 20,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the information and claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers. New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends many additional rights to disabled ex-service men will reopen thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service

The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 195,246 cases. There were 36,995 separate soldiers' and sailors' claims; 20,316 investigations of home conditions; 11,421 cases related to discharges, furloughs, etc. Assistance was given in 39,688 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,220 visits were made to the sick or disabled, and nearly 40,000 letters and telegrams dispatched to the homes of enlisted men.

From June to September at the numerous military training camps the Red Cross provided information and home service to the trainees, also instruction in First Aid and Life-Saving. The entertainment and recreation events at the various Army and Navy hospitals reached nearly 9,500 during the year, and occupational therapy in nine Naval hospitals gave constructive and beneficial results and occupied the time of patients in the making of useful and ornamental things.

Fjord and Farewell.
The word "fjord" comes from the old Norse, survives in the modern words "Arth" and "frith," is connected with the English "fare," meaning to travel, and used in the word "farewell," and meant, most probably, in the first instance, says the author of "Norwegian Pictures," water safe for navigation on account of its sheltered position.

Inventor of Limericks.
Edward Lear is sometimes named as the originator of the limerick. While tutor in the family of the earl of Derby, about 1834, he wrote his first nonsense book for the entertainment of the earl's youngest son. The word limerick is said to be the name of a song current in Ireland, the refrain of which song contains the place name, "Limerick."

Large Marketing Costs and Waste

Peach Crop of Georgia Provided Excellent Example of Unavoidable Loss.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.
There is an all too prevalent impression among those who have had little opportunity to observe the full course of marketing of food products that by some magical costless process these products are whisked from the farmers' fields to the fruit stand or grocery store. Consequently when reports are published in the newspapers of great waste of food products in the fields, particularly fruits and vegetables, many consumers want to know why it is they cannot buy at much lower prices. The explanation for these apparently wasteful practices, says the United States Department of Agriculture, is to be found in the costs of transportation and other marketing costs.

The present peach crop in Georgia has provided an excellent example of a waste of fruit at the point of production because of unavoidable economic conditions. Many newspaper articles, some of them containing exaggerated statements of actual conditions, have called attention to the waste, and letters have been written to various government officers, from the President down, asking that something be done about it. One letter from New York city is as follows: "Please find enclosed clipping from one of our newspapers about a great waste of peaches in the state of Georgia. My wife insists on having this brought to your attention as she is paying 20 cents a pound for only 'fair' peaches. If this article is official or statements made even approximately true, I think something could and should be done to save the crops and keep down the cost of living in the cities, dependent on transportation."

Conditions in Georgia.
An explanation of the conditions which existed in the Georgia peach section this summer in connection with a brief outline of the marketing processes necessary to get the peaches to the New York consumer, included in a letter from the secretary of agriculture to the New York inquirer, should clear up a good many questions regarding price relationships on many crops.

The present season, according to this statement, witnessed the production of the largest Georgia peach crop in history. In addition, east of the Rocky mountains there was in nearly all the peach-growing regions the largest crop harvested since 1915. In Georgia the setting of peaches was much larger than the trees could have been expected to develop into desirable market sizes. Early in the season growers were advised by the Department of Agriculture to thin or remove a portion of the fruit from the trees, a practice which is followed each year by some growers to insure large sizes and better quality. Some of the growers followed the advice this year, but most of them neglected it with the result that the crop contained a large proportion of under-sized fruit which could not be marketed at a profit. Some orchards, in which the fruit was not thinned, showed as high as 50 per cent of culls. Small fruit which experience has shown the consumer does not want in a year of abundant production, at a price that will pay for handling.

It is obvious that in a season when the crop is large these culls must be allowed to rot, for no one will handle them when only loss is in sight. The cost of packages, packing, transportation and handling a bushel of culls is as much as for the same quantity of standard grade. Since culls are a losing proposition wherever found, says the department, it is better to remove them at the point of production, thus saving the cost of marketing, than to place them on the market and have the cost of handling added to the cost of the marketable fruit with which they were packed. Small sizes have formed a large part of the so-called waste in the Georgia peach orchards. The total crop in that state for the season was estimated at 18,000 cars, whereas only about 13,500 cars were finally marketed.

Big Loss of Hiley Belles.
The loss of one variety, Hiley Belles, was especially large. When these peaches came on prices were so low that had the producer delivered his peaches to the packer free of cost the fruit would not have paid the marketing charges. Many cars of early peaches were put on the market without being thoroughly culled, and because they were unsatisfactory to the trade the market became demoralized. Later varieties, as a result of grading and elimination of poor fruit, sold better. The different cost items which enter into the expense of marketing peaches show convincingly why it pays to handle only the best fruit during a season of large production. The approximate cost of a six-basket (24-quart) peach carrier, together with the cost of packing and loading into cars, is 52 cents. The freight and icing charge on a six-basket carrier from Georgia to New York is about 70 cents. This is a total of $1.22 delivered in New York. From the net sales price received for the fruit these charges are deducted and the balance is received by the producer for his labor and fruit. On August 4 the range of prices on six-basket carriers of peaches was from $1.75 to $2.50. These prices were to jobbers of carlots and represent the initial cost of peaches at the first point in the line of marketing distribution in the city.

On the date the previously quoted letter was written from New York, July 29, the highest price reported at that city on sales to jobbers of Georgia peaches was $2.75 for a six-basket carrier. The approximate weight of the fruit in such a carrier is 37½ pounds. If this were sold at 20 cents per pound, the retail price mentioned by the writer, the carrier brought a total of $7.50. This represents the total amount paid by the consumer out of which must come the following items: The producer's returns, package cost, packing and loading expense, freight and icing charges, and the wholesaler's gross profit or commission—making a total of $2.75—and the cost, profits and waste of city distribution which amounted to $4.75. Were the peaches delivered to piers in New York free of charge and distributed to the consumer through the present channels of trade and at normal charges and profits only, the consumer would have had to pay approximately 63 per cent of the price he did pay.

Distribution Is Costly.
The distribution of fruits and vegetables in New York city is a costly operation at best and this cost is greatly increased by the ungraded condition of much of the stock which is delivered to this market. In order that buyers may inspect the fruit, it is necessary that it be moved to a central point where work may be done as quickly as possible. In New York the piers furnish this point and there the cars are centralized and distribution begins. A car of peaches is delivered to a carlot receiver at a pier in New York. The receiver unloads the car on the pier and splits it into units of 5 to 100 carriers, each jobber buying according to his needs. The jobber has his purchase delivered to trucks which haul it to his place of business in one of the five or six secondary markets. Here the jobber splits his supply into units that will meet the needs of the retailers. Again the truck is used to deliver the retailer's purchase to his place of business. Here the last splittings of purchases are made and range in size, according to the consumer's desires which may be one peach or one or more baskets. Often there is another truck delivery which takes the product to the consumer.

Each Step Adds to Cost.
Each step in this distribution is an added cost and each handler must make a profit. The cumulative result is the consumer's price. It has been estimated that the initial moving charge from pier to truck, a distance of 500 yards, is $20.00 per car. From pier to the large distributing points will range from $24.00 to $65.00 per car. Each handler must exact a profit, which may be small, but the total expense is large. Peaches are a highly perishable product and the various handlings along the route from producer to consumer entail considerable loss through physical injury while changes in temperature aggravate these and other defects. This loss is the consumer's loss as the retail price of the merchantable fruit must cover the expenses and profits in all the transactions.

These figures and facts which explain rather convincingly the reasons for the so-called waste of fruit at the production end, while the consumer must pay a considerable price, have been prepared by the department after careful investigation. Similar conditions are to be found in the handling of practically all perishable food products.

FARM FACTS

Scrub bulls make scrub farmers.
Oats should generally be planted at the rate of 2 to 3 bushels per acre.
Feeding high-value feed to low-value live stock is like walking on quicksand.
"Many words won't fill a bushel," but a few dollars for legume seed will fill the soil with fertility.
Milking cows is too serious a business to be conducted at a loss. Why is a boarder cow, anyway?
Get a cover crop started in the orchard as soon as possible. Use what does best on your farm, preferably a legume such as crimson clover or vetch.
Scatter a few handfuls of millet seed in the litter occasionally. The hens will dig after the tiny grains for hours and it helps keep them from becoming overfat.
When a breed of chickens, or a feed, or a system of culling, or a house goes wrong, it is well to consider whether the chance to go right has been given, or vice versa.
To be successful in turkey raising, one must give the most careful consideration to certain fundamental factors. Growing stock must be kept under the best possible conditions.
The turkey raiser who feels it is no longer necessary to look after the flock of his stock after they are well feathered, is more than likely to suffer the loss of a number of fine birds during early fall by wild grapes, green corn, etc.

RED CROSS IS URGING BETTER-HEALTH BATTLE

Tireless in Services Advancing Cause of Freedom from Human Suffering.

Not alone in preparedness for emergencies, but in a tireless offensive battle for better health is the American Red Cross nurse maintaining in peace time the high tradition of her war service. As in war, the same self-sacrificing service for humanity goes on its quiet, effective way content in its accomplishments, seeking no public acclaim. Enrolled in the Red Cross Nursing Service are 40,636 of these missionaries of health, nearly 1,000 carrying the message of a finer public health to as many communities and 1,100 teaching large classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. Exactly 100 Red Cross nurses are still on duty overseas, helping the struggle forward toward the high standard of American nurse efficiency in many countries.

In the Government services 3,117 enrolled Red Cross nurses are on duty with the Army, Navy, Public Health Service and the Veterans Bureau, while the entire active enrollment is maintained as a reserve for the Army Nurse Corps and available to the Navy in a national defense emergency. Nine hundred nurses were added to the roll the last year. Red Cross nursing, however, has perhaps its finest expression out in the places laid waste by fire, flood and storm, and in the back reaches far from the centers of population. In every disaster the Red Cross nurse is first called for, first to respond, and the last to leave her post of duty among the suffering victims. In the isolated sections of Alaska, North Carolina, Virginia, Idaho, and among the bleak islands of Penobscott Bay, Me., her ministrations are making hard lives easier and working for a brighter future for the children. Her part in the human drama of the time is increasingly important, although it is subdued by the very nature of her work.

The policy of the American Red Cross to establish under Chapter control public health nursing services in communities lacking such facilities has been justified and this pioneering work is everywhere endorsed by authorities who are quick to take it over as a proper municipal function and a duty of taxpayers. The Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick program has further penetrated into the schools as a definite part of curriculums. During the year 29,000 school pupils took this Red Cross course. Three telephone corporations adopted it and graduated 960 employe students.

As good health depends upon right eating the Red Cross Nutrition Service continued to promote individual and community health, particularly the health of mothers and children. This service reached nearly 150,000 persons during the year and found work to do for several thousand Red Cross volunteer workers.

Red Cross Fighting First Aid Battle To Conserve Life

Reliable records establish the fact that more than 75,000 accidental deaths occur every year in the United States. The records show that 206 American citizens are killed every day; that 38 of these deaths are due to automobiles, 35 to falls, 19 to drownings, 16 to burns.

Facing such distressing sacrifice of life is the First Aid Service of the American Red Cross, fighting through education and demonstration to instill a consciousness of safety in the public mind and teaching approved methods which assure that competent hands will care for injured persons until the arrival of doctors. Trained service in the first few minutes is vital in serious accidents and saves many precious lives.

One of the most encouraging signs of the past year is the record of the Red Cross First Aid Insurance Car No. 1 which traveled 9,700 miles along trunk lines, stopping at 137 places. The car's staff of surgeons gave 911 demonstrations to audiences composed of 42,150 railroad men, 71,000 high school and college students, 13,000 industrial workers, 2,000 members of clubs, and nearly 18,000 policemen, firemen, and other municipal employes, a total of 147,000.

Red Cross First Aid certificates were conferred upon 13,865 persons who took the course last year, an increase of 4,000 over 1923. Telephone, gas and electric companies, public service corporations and other large employers of the country adopted the Red Cross course, and their team contests everywhere were witnessed by huge crowds with as much interest as develops at popular athletic games.

In the industrial field the growth of First Aid practice to fight to reduce preventable accidents and unnecessary loss of life has received wide recognition. The promise of an unprecedented advance in this fine cause lies in the evidence of the great strides systematic instruction in First Aid has made throughout the country through the Red Cross Chapters and the work of the experts in this service under direction of the national organization.

Sign the American Red Cross roll this year for humanity's sake.

Blarritz Record Broken.

The American Rifleman says that the record made at Blarritz in 1912, and regarded for more than a decade as unbreakable, was broken at the international matches of 1923, held at Camp Perry, September 18, by a squad representing the United States. The Blarritz team record was bettered 129 points by a team total of 5,301, and the record for the individual championship of the world—1,078, held by Stahel of Switzerland—was surpassed by twelve points.

The Industrious Bee.

The bee has two distinct stomachs.
In the first it stores away the honey from the flowers until such time as it is ready to yield it up, while the other stomach is used simply and solely for digestion purposes. When the bee is ready to deposit the honey it contracts the muscles of the stomach and the honey is ejected through the mouth.

Sick Poultry Can Be Cured Any Season of the Year.

Circleville, O., R. F. D. 6,

September 29, 1924.

Mrs. Edward H. Wardell, winner of Grand Sweep Stakes for best dozen eggs in show in Ohio State university, held February, 1924, says:

Mr. F. L. Fickardt, Dear Sir:—

I am only too glad to recommend Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops to any one interested in poultry, as the best preventative for contagious diseases I know of, on the market today.
About three years ago cholera broke out in my flock of young chickens, which were then about six weeks old, and weighing about 1½ pounds. There were 175 birds in this flock. As soon as I discovered they were sick I began treating them according to instructions of a specialist. I only lost eleven out of 175, and checked the disease in about three days. At that time Fick-ardt's Roup and Cholera Drops was recommended to me as a wonderful medicine to be used as a preventive of contagious diseases. At that time I began using the Drops and have not had an epidemic since, altho I lose one or two now and then from common causes such as apoplexy, egg-bound, etc. I begin giving it to the chicks when they are quite young and from that time on they are never without it. At the present time I am shipping two cases of eggs a week and have been for the last six months, from my flock of 180 hens and I attribute this high egg production to the healthy condition of my flock. I always grade and candle my eggs and I have attained such a degree of perfection that I have less than three per cent of my eggs that do not run over the specified weight of 24 ounces to the dozen. Sincerely,

Mrs. Edward H. Wardell.
